

FIELD CONDITIONS

SEPTEMBER 01, 2012 – JANUARY 06, 2013

FIELD CONDITIONS

SEPTEMBER 01, 2012 – JANUARY 06, 2013

Can there be architecture without buildings? What if a wall or a floor went on forever? What happens when people move through a room? From immersive installations to intricate drawings, the works in Field Conditions pose provocative questions about the construction, experience, and representation of space. This exhibition assembles an array of projects by both noted architects and contemporary artists — including Stan Allen, Tauba Auerbach, Sol LeWitt, Daniel Libeskind, Rafael Lozano-Hemmer, Lebbeus Woods, and others — that redefine the relationships between invisible and visible, field and boundary, finite and infinite. Field Conditions invites us to imagine beyond the frame.

FIELD CONDITIONS

SEPTEMBER 01, 2012 – JANUARY 06, 2013

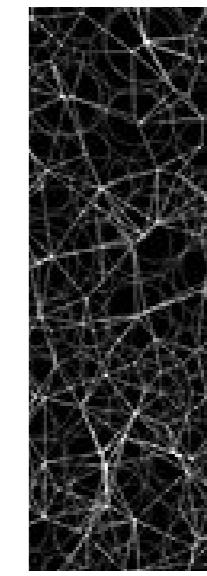

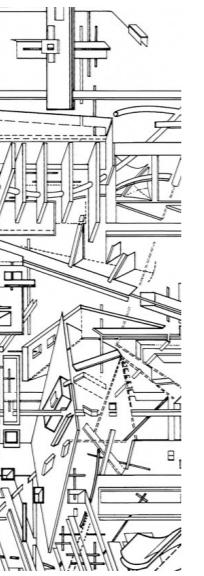

lebbeus woods , conflict Space 2, 20016; crayon and acrylic on linen;
74 x 120 in. (187.96 x 304.8 cm); Collection SFMOMA, goft of Alek-
sandra Wagner

FIELD CONDITIONS

SEPTEMBER 01, 2012 – JANUARY 06, 2013

FIELD CONDITIONS

SEPTEMBER 01, 2012 – JANUARY 06, 2013

Can there be architecture without buildings? What if a wall or a floor went on forever? What happens when people move through a room? From immersive installations to intricate drawings, the works in Field Conditions pose provocative questions about the construction, experience, and representation of space. This exhibition assembles an array of projects by both noted architects and contemporary artists — including Stan Allen, Tauba Auerbach, Sol LeWitt, Daniel Libeskind, Rafael Lozano-Hemmer, Lebbeus Woods, and others — that redefine the relationships between invisible and visible, field and boundary, finite and infinite. Field Conditions invites us to imagine beyond the frame.

FIELD CONDITIONS

SEPTEMBER 01, 2012 – JANUARY 06, 2013

lebbeus woods , conflict Space 2, 2006; crayon and acrylic on linen;
74 x 120 in. (187.96 x 304.8 cm); Collection SFMOMA, gift of Alek-
sandra Wagner

FIELD CONDITIONS

SEPTEMBER 01, 2012 – JANUARY 06, 2013

Can there be architecture without buildings? What if a wall or a floor went on forever? What happens when people move through a room? From immersive installations to intricate drawings, the works in Field Conditions pose provocative questions about the construction, experience, and representation of space. This exhibition assembles an array of projects by both noted architects and contemporary artists — including Stan Allen, Tauba Auerbach, Sol LeWitt, Daniel Libeskind, Rafael Lozano-Hemmer, Lebbeus Woods, and others — that redefine the relationships between invisible and visible, field and boundary, finite and infinite. Field Conditions invites us to imagine beyond the frame.

FIELD CONDITIONS

SEPTEMBER 01, 2012 – JANUARY 06, 2013

lebbeus woods , conflict Space 2, 2006; crayon and acrylic on linen;
74 x 120 in. (187.96 x 304.8 cm); Collection SFMOMA, gift of Alek-
sandra Wagner

